1. General Mac gave a short discussion on secure telephone systems. The original KY-1 is being replaced by a newer version called the KY-3. Production is one year away. Air Force world-wide system, KY-9, has one instrument in OSA and will shortly have another in the Director's office. This will be replaced eventually by the KG-13. The security of the red line is somewhat confused and suspect due to the existence of cross talk between the cables, which are in the same conduit. The so-called "gray" system is secure within the building; however, between this and other Agencies it is not so secure.

25X1A1a 2. UGF Report: There has been 98.6% participation by the Agency. [REDACTED] has been pledged against a goal of [REDACTED] 25X1A1a
Should make the goal easily.

3. PSAS has had contributions of [REDACTED] 25X1A1a

4. Relocation Plan Report: [REDACTED] reported on the status 25X1A9a of relocation plans. It appears the recent crisis accomplished more in 24 hours than they had accomplished in the preceding seven years. They hope to bring this up to date and finish the necessary planning. Mr. Kirkpatrick suggested that as things died down a little more, individuals should be sure their own families have precise instructions. This includes knowing the proper P.O. Box. I didn't know it, but apparently some of us are to have an emergency clothing kit with us at all times.

5. Mr. Houston reported on the use of appropriated funds for campaigns, i.e., don't do it! Apparently this is some formality requiring this information be disseminated ever so often.

6. Mr. Jack Earman, the IG, gave a report on his recent East African trip.
